Thank You

A.H. Beard is committed to helping you get a better night's sleep. Thank you for purchasing an A.H. Beard mattress. We are confident that it will provide you with restful and rejuvenating sleep for years to come.

Upon delivery

Your mattress is made with all new materials that may release a slight smell, this is normal and not a cause for concern. Once your new mattress has been removed from its plastic packaging, leave it uncovered in a well-ventilated room to allow any odours to dissipate.

Please dispose of the plastic packaging and other materials responsibly. Keep the plastic bag away from children to avoid the danger of suffocation or other injuries. Ensure the packaging materials are disposed of thoughtfully.

To help us provide you with fast and efficient service, we recommend you register your mattress purchase online at ahbeard.com/register

What we do in the unlikely event you make a claim	11

Getting to know your new mattress

It can take a little while to get used to the level of comfort and support provided by your new mattress. If you have been sleeping on a different type of mattress, the materials of your new mattress may feel quite different to what you are used to.

Your new mattress may also feel a little different to the one you tried in the store. The mattresses on display in retail stores have been tried and tested by customers over several months, resulting in the various components settling. Similarly, if you are using your new mattress on a base that is different to the one in the store, this can alter the final level of comfort and support you experience at home.

It is important not to confuse “uncomfortable” with “unfamiliar” when it comes to getting to know your new mattress. We recommend that you sleep on your new mattress for at least four weeks to allow the comfort materials to respond to your unique shape and sleeping positions, and for your body to adjust to the benefits of your new mattress. If, after 4-6 weeks, you are not 100% happy with your choice, please refer to our Better Sleep Promise on page 7.

Some A.H. Beard mattresses contain luxurious comfort materials that help minimise pressure points by allowing the sleeper to sink slightly into the uppermost layers of the mattress. As a result, more of the mattress is in contact with your body, which may cause you to feel warmer. A firmer mattress with fewer soft comfort layers will keep your body resting on top of the mattress, rather than being cradled by it, so may feel cooler.

Care for your mattress

By following these care guidelines, you can expect your mattress to provide comfort and support for many years.

- Do not stand or jump on your mattress or base.
- Do not bend or fold your mattress.
- If your mattress contains an anatomic gel comfort layer, ensure that it always remains flat. Do not store it on its side.

Mattress protection

- Always use a good quality mattress protector to ensure a fresh and hygienic night's sleep and protect your mattress from spills and stains. Failure to use a mattress protector could void your guarantee. In the unlikely event that your mattress needs to be returned to A.H. Beard for repairs, we may require it to be sanitised by an accredited service at your expense to ensure the health and safety of our team.
- Its important to keep the mattress surface clear of any stains and spills from a work health and safety aspect to avoid voiding your guarantee.
- Leave your mattress to breathe regularly to allow body moisture to dissipate. Simply leave the bedlinen turned back for a few hours to allow air to circulate around and through the mattress.

Rotating your mattress

We recommend that you rotate your new mattress end-to-end every two weeks during the first four months, and monthly thereafter, to ensure more even wear. If your mattress has handles, these can be used to rotate it, but are not designed to carry the full weight of the mattress. Do not use the handles to lift and carry the mattress, as this may cause damage and will void the guarantee.

Use a suitable, supportive base

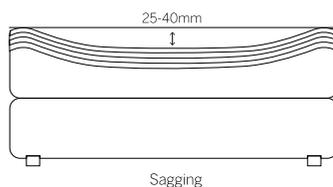

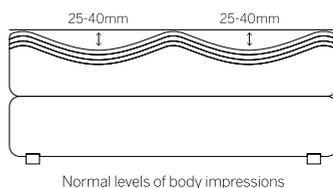

- Use a supportive base with your new mattress. A.H. Beard's timber platform bases provide the best possible support for your new mattress, to prolong its life and ensure the most comfortable sleep experience. We recommend that you do not use an old base with a new mattress, as both parts of your sleep set work together to provide you with comfort and support.
- A.H. Beard's adjustable bases provide a strong supportive foundation for your new mattress, with the added benefit of articulation. An adjustable base allows you to find your perfect position for sleeping or relaxing. It may help ease lower back pain, improve circulation and may assist with other conditions such as snoring, reflux and swelling. For more information on our range of adjustable bases, visit www.ahbeard.com
- Be sure that the legs are screwed in tightly and checked each year or as required.
- If you are using a slat base or timber slatted bedframe with your new mattress, we recommend that the slats are no more than 10cm apart and have a centre support rail and leg to ensure suitable support for your mattress. Flexible (convex arching) slats can lose their resilience over time, becoming concave. They should be rotated from high load areas (centre) to low load areas (head/foot) and replaced regularly. Failure to use a suitable foundation may result in quality issues that will not be covered by your guarantee.

- If using a solid panel base, ensure that it has ventilation holes to allow adequate air circulation.
- If you have purchased an A.H. Beard base with drawers, please note that these drawers have been designed to hold lightweight items only, with each drawer carrying a maximum load of 30kg. Do not overload the drawers as this may cause damage.

Body impressions

- Most people tend to sleep in the same area of their mattress each night, therefore you may notice visible indentations over time. These indentations, sometimes referred to as body signature or body impressions, are the result of the comfort layers responding to your body shape. Indentations of up to 40mm on a pillow-top mattress, and 25mm on a non-pillow top mattress, are considered a normal characteristic of mattress performance.
- As the comfort materials settle and dip slightly in the area where you sleep, this can leave a raised area in the centre of the mattress. This will be more noticeable on larger mattresses. This uneven wear on the mattress surface is deemed “fair wear and tear” and is not considered to be a fault under the conditions of the mattress guarantee.
- To minimise the ridge in the middle of the mattress ensure that you use the entire sleep surface. This will help the mattress to evenly settle.
- To help minimise body impressions, we recommend that you rotate your new mattress end-to-end every two weeks during the first four months, and monthly thereafter. This will help to even out the settling across the surface of the mattress. Always get someone to help you rotate the mattress to prevent personal injury and damage to the mattress.

Cleaning your mattress

Vacuum your mattress regularly. Do not wet your mattress as it may damage the comfort layers and spring unit. This may void your guarantee. Spills should be dried immediately. Stained mattress may void your guarantee because of work, health and safety concerns. We recommend you use a mattress protector.

Storing your mattress when not in use

Store your mattress in a cool, dry place out of direct sunlight. Cover your mattress to keep it free from dust. King Koil and other spring mattresses can be stored upright. Do not lean anything against your mattress. If your mattress is hand-tufted, or contains latex or gel, it should be stored flat with nothing placed on top. We recommend storing your mattress in an appropriate mattress bag. Mattress bags and boxes can be purchased from A.H. Beard.

A.H. Beard's Better Sleep Promise

To help us provide you with fast and efficient service, we recommend you register your mattress purchase online at ahbeard.com/register.

We understand that buying a new mattress is a significant investment, and it can sometimes be difficult to know whether you have made the right comfort choice. That's where our commitment to better sleep comes in. If you're not happy with the comfort feel of your new AH Beard is one of the very few sleep organisations that will enable you to change the comfort feel of your mattress at a nominal fee. This means if you feel that the mattress you choose after the settling period still does not meet your needs then for a fee we can change that for you.* Rather than purchasing a completely new mattress, we can fine-tune this for you. This excludes Signature series mattresses and commercial property mattresses.

It can take a while to get used to the different level of comfort and support provided by your new mattress. We recommend that you sleep on your new mattress for 4-6 weeks to allow the comfort materials to respond to your unique body shape. If you are not experiencing the quality sleep you expect, then we're here to help.

It is important to consider other factors that may be impacting your sleep quality. Your choice of pillow, bed linen, bed coverings (quilts, blankets etc.), room temperature and other environmental and lifestyle factors can all have an effect on overall sleeping comfort. For more information on how to create the ideal conditions for sleep, please read our tips for a better night's sleep on page 6 or visit ahbeard.com.
